CARAMEL & FAMILY

2024: A New Family Adventure.

For 8 years, we've had the kids' backs, creating stylish school bags that never turn their backs on the planet or their health. Lovely school bags, backpacks, and pencil cases, all crafted with love – the love for doing things right.

But at Caramel & cie., we believe that love alone is not enough. To us, caring for others is just as crucial as love itself. Our products are conceived with genuine attention to children, their lives, their health, their creativity, their growth, their play, and their future. We give the same attention you do to your kids, because they matter to you. In fact, there's nothing more important. And that's why you choose only the best for them.

This care is our strength. We invest heavily in understanding your children and stepping into their shoes while being parents ourselves. So, we thought, why not extend the attention and love we put into our school bags to products designed for the whole family – for all families. Regardless of their composition, their history, or their life goals.

We put ourselves in the shoes of parents, grandparents, and even teenagers. Thus, we've crafted an entire range of products that cater to them as individuals or as part of a family, whether it's a small or extended one. For every aspect of their lives, their relationships, and their daily routines.

This is the new grand adventure of Caramel & Co. – making everyday life for all families more beautiful and practical with products designed with the same care we have for children.
